London, UK, 2015 – sinnmusik* welcomes back Jamie Trench with his successful 'Still Need It' EP this time exclusively remixed by sinnmusik artists and friends.

After recently releasing his smooth sounding 'Smiling Faces' EP, Roman Mühlischlegel is back for some more and offers the title track a deeper playful melody. His version builds momentum with a harmonious balance of prolonged lasting keys and shifted phonic sounds throughout, gradually warming it to contain that sunset groove sensation.

With a productive track record of remixing fellow sinnmusik's artists, Adrian doesn't hesitate to embed his very own profound house sound on 'Still Need It'. An even wavier baseline and series of accelerating engine kicks and hi-hats enhances the track to be more and more energetic.

Following up is Georgi Barrel and his very close friend from Kassel Germany, Niclas Kannengiesser. The two introduce every rhythmic layer one by one, using a beautiful yet powerful combination of kick drums and snares to captivate a pleasant but progressive beat that can be enjoyed at any time of the day.

Fasika finishes things off with his take on 'Who Ya Gonna Call' bringing out full on tribal percussion that shows the wonderful collaboration of all sorts of funky and contrasting instrumental sounds. A steady pace maker with the likes of a xylophone and background trumpet gives this new remix a nifty jazzy feel.
